½ tsp each of ground mixed spice; nutmeg and cinnamon

250g carrots grated

Topping

50g unsalted butter at room temperature

225g full-fat cream cheese such as Philadelphia

25g golden icing sugar

½ tsp vanilla extract

Using a hand held mixer whisk the sunflower oil and muscovado sugar together to combine and then whisk in the eggs one at a time. Sift the flour, salt and spices together and then fold into the sugar and egg mixture. Fold in the carrots.

Divide the mixture between two 18cm greased and base lined sandwich tins. Bake for 30-40 minutes 180C/160c fan oven/Gas mark 4 until a skewer inserted into centre comes out clean. Leave in tins for 10 mins then turn out onto wire rack.

To make the frosting beat together the butter and cream cheese until light and fluffy. Sift the icing sugar and add with the vanilla extract and mix well. Use to fill and top the cake. Decorate as required.

An ode to bees

Two pairs of wings, yellow and black

Carrying pollen grains stuck on my back

Flitting around from flower to flower

Busy through every fine daylight hour

Hardworking to set your fruits and your seeds

Whilst gathering nectar for my own needs

Please would you grow some flowers for me

And help a humble bumble bee?

I've had a hard time in recent years,

Bees are declining, or so it appears

So make me a house, it can be quite rough

Somewhere to hide when the going gets tough

And please don't poison me with any spray

Be kind to me and I'll work all the day,

For pears and apples and plums from the tree

Depend on pollinators like me!
