Please join us for Dr Audrey Timm's talk on

The Power of Plants

The Power of Plants to deliver climate resilience, improved biodiversity, health and social outcomes in cities.

Dr Audrey Timm is a horticultural scientist. Spanning many aspects of horticulture in her career, latterly Audrey has been promoting the connection between design and ecology in urban landscapes with the University of Sheffield in the UK. Audrey now leads AIPH's "Green City" initiative, which brings nature and plants into urban spaces to transform lives for the better.
